The idea is not to cover too much ground in so little time. Differently from NZ, AU and the northwest of the US (previous FLNW), we have a densely populated area and big distances to be covered. We do not want to spend time checking in at crowded and inefficient airports so we decided to opt for a big bus which can take us and stop wherever we want and is an easier/cheaper form of transportation for a big group.

The axis for a first time would be Sao Paulo, Rio and Paraná, unless you feel like seeing/doing something different.

We have come up with two itineraries (/two%20itineraries) based on 10 days.
